

Protection [to be revised]

(Protection aka order. This text is an extract from a forum I posted my thoughts about on law and order and its importance in one's life.)

Hi,

Thank you for your reply and i apologies for replying only now.

Yes, i think that what i seek is order on all levels of existence. And i think that this is what you mean too. Either way, something tells me that Islam is about the promotion of order and this is a very important thing. If you have no order at any given time, than how do you expect to reach results in a changing world ?

I am an engineer and so i like if things are available for my needs. I do not mean about amounts but the things to fulfill my daily and weekly needs. No matter how little these things might be, life has suppressed my resources so much that i have been seeking order to put together a working "gear" that allows me to reach my goals. I think that Islam does support the perfection of law and order on all levels, which allows for achieving my minimal daily needs to support my and my fiance's existence. Obviously, i am too a respecter of the Lord. However, i have this in me that i can not communicate with the Lord directly when it is time for action, and i am in need of answers. So i think that perfecting self life based on given and working laws is a way to reach goals.

It might be interesting but i am most feel closely with defense entities, yet, I think that Islam is about the same: Supporting law and order on all levels.

The difference is that Islam reaches this and enables anyone to practice perfecting the seek of truth and play with reality on a theoretical level to reach new levels of understanding of the rules, world and the Lord. I think that defense allows similar discipline and exploration too but laid down on governmental law.

The idea i tamper with is that areas of law exploration that defense might not be able to explore Islam can still provide. However, i think that why defense would not be able to provide the same ? Isn't the support of order the same as defense against evil in your life ?

I think yes.

So i think of Islam as my spiritual arm against evil in my private life. An extension of law that governmental law does not describe yet. But I question, it could actually I think, without affecting anyone's identical rights or views.

The reason I think this is because of the following. People tell me that I should study Islam more. I 100%-ly agree with it, but I think that this need for study has a message. And I think that it means the constant exploration of laws of the world.

I also think that, it is actually a space of thought that we study when one means, the study of Islam. Space of thought of our lives which interfere and new ideas are born. More exploration more knowledge, more understanding. All you have to do is watch....or sunbathe if you like.

I think that this idea is well related to multiple derivatives of optical solitons or any type of solitons in the world. Please see my SMLU publications for more.

So the conclusion is:

Law and order is basically defense against evil, hence Islam aids security and defense or existence if you like. I think that it is an important thing. I am currently thinking that security of existence itself could mean Islam because I seem to see no limit to serve this rule, due to the constant exploration of laws of the world which arise from space of thoughts.

It might seem interesting at first. Think about it.

Why do I say “My Islam”?

I obviously do not want to appropriate Islam. My point is that I look at an idea of something that empowers self and I can take It anywhere with me anyhow. The knowing of laws and order, your “pocket gear” in everyday life that you can vividly use and practice in everyday life.
